

6. Happy Again

Subject: Apologizing, moods
Book 1, p. 28
CD 1, Song 6, If you're happy
Flash cards: Yes
Supplementary material: No
Grammar & phrases: I'm sorry
Recommended material:
Suggested length of unit: 2 lessons

Let the children listen to the little dialogue between Peter and Jane. Let them practice how to apologize. (I'm sorry)

Explain that there are different kinds of moods, such as being angry, sad or happy. Have them make the corresponding facial expression for each mood.

Explain that Peter and Jane's father will mend the teddy bear and everything will be all right again.

Act out the song, do the clapping, clipping, snapping and so on.

While practising the song, it's a lot of fun trying to keep the order of all five actions in mind without mixing them up.

The children like to practice the clicking of fingers so that it actually "clicks" when they try hard enough.

Activities p.30 - 31

Have the children number the actions according to the order in the song.

Let them try to fill in the names Peter and Jane (who does what in the book.)

Let one child do a certain action and have the others name it.

Let a child name an action, the others must do it.
